

MARYLAND STATE BOARD OF LAW EXAMINERS
PASSING STANDARD FOR THE FEBRUARY 2014 GENERAL BAR EXAMINATION

1. An applicant's Total Scale Score for the February 2014 Maryland Bar Examination was computed using the following formula:

$$\text{Total Scale Score} = (\text{Written Test Scale Score} \times 2) + \text{MBE Scale Score}$$

2. The Written Test comprises the Board's Essay Test and the Multistate Performance Test (MPT). The raw score for the Written Test is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Written Test Raw Score} = \text{Sum of Board's Essay Test Raw Scores} + (\text{MPT raw score} \times 1.5)$$

3. The raw score for each of the 10 Essay Questions and the MPT Question was assigned on a relative range of one (1) to six (6) points, and a score of zero was assigned only if an answer booklet was blank or the answer was otherwise totally incorrect or unresponsive to the question. The maximum possible raw score on the Written Test was 69 points. The raw scores assigned to each applicant's written answers ranked the performance of that applicant on each written question relative to the performance on that question of all other applicants taking the February 2014 Written Test.
4. An applicant's Written Test Raw Score was converted to the MBE Scale using the following formula:

$$\text{Written Test Scale Score} = [(A-B) / C] [D] + E, \text{ where:}$$

- A = Written Test Raw Score
- B = the mean of the A values across all applicants
- C = the standard deviation of the A Values across all applicants
- D = the standard deviation of the Maryland applicants' MBE scale scores
- E = the mean of the Maryland applicants' MBE scale scores

Expressed in numerical terms, the conversion formula for the February 2014 examination was:

$$\text{Written Test Scale Score} = (2.2016 \times A) + 36.2192$$

5. The minimum passing Total Scale Score is 406.

PLEASE NOTE CAREFULLY: As described in the Notice to Unsuccessful Candidates, mailed with the official results letter, the Board's regrading policy is a procedure utilized by the Board BEFORE the examination results are released. Once the initial grading and regrading are concluded and the examination results are released, THERE IS NO FURTHER REGRADE PROCEDURE AND NO APPEAL IS PERMITTED.
